SCHOOL WAS OUT . . .

Some went away in style.

TO MARC
STAY FRESH
HAVE A chill summer norell

Some went away in tears.

And some just went away.

Just when you thought summer would never end . . . school began. It seemed like only yesterday that you said your last good-byes to teachers and friends. Taking pictures and exchanging yearbooks through a mixture of tears and smiles, you promised to K.I.T. (keep in touch).

From beginning to end, school slipped your mind as summertime activities took over. Some of us surfed and skated, while others basked in the warmth of the sun. Visits to distant relatives were not uncommon. Last year's jokers spent the summer in school, but others of us held down part time jobs or went to camp. Though you didn't want to admit it, after a couple of months of sleeping, eating, and watching re-runs, summer became a bore. On the other hand, you dreaded losing your freedom and your summer fun.

Reluctantly you prepared yourself for the first day of school. Another year of early rising, cold cereal, and rushing so we wouldn't be late.

Boarding the old yellow bus while still half asleep, you realized that this year would be different. Finally, wide-eyed, you looked among the crowd and felt the challenge of the new faces intermingled with the familiar.

Stepping into your first class, doubt clouded your mind. "Am I dressed O.K.?" "Will I make it to second bell on time?" But by the end of the week, the hysteria was over; you had settled into your new routine.

Summer had been fun, but now it was over and it was time for . . . a new beginning.

Miss Tilley welcomed the newcomers and their parents.

Fast times at PAJ was an example of how NOT to succeed.

All eyes were on the "Classroom."

Seventh graders were amused by the skit.

HINTS FOR BEGINNERS

This was not a typical classroom.

Interest was intense.

SEASON OPENERS

The cheerleaders showed off their acrobatic abilities.

The puck was sent down field.

PAJ kept it away from the opponent.

Coach Reid called out instructions from the sideline.

Tonya thrilled the crowd with her fire baton routine.

Several Panther gridsman were waiting for the ball.

The newly formed Color Guard went through their routine with the band.

BEGINNING

Cafeteria lines seemed to move so slowly.

Fees were collected during P.E. time those first few days.

Lunch time was time for high-level conferences.

ROUTINES

Some had to be fitted for gym suits . . . S, M, or L.

Waiting In line was a time to socialize.

We finally got to the main event — classes.

BEGINNING EVENTS

The Color Guard made their premier appearance in the Neptune Festival Parade.

Matt and friend took advantage of a slow number.

PAJHS's entry took a third place in the Sandcastle building contest.

The entertainment was "alive" and lively during the first dance.

Recording every student's height and weight was a big job for Mrs. James.

Sydney and David didn't sit this one out.

The more the merrier described the group dancing.

LUNCHTIME WAS FOR . . .

... gossiping with friends.

... catching up on one's beauty rest.

... hanging around with the crowd.

... staying out of the 300 hall without a pass.

... relaxing in the sun with a good book.

The casual look was definitely IN.

Layered and laced up.

DRESSING OUT

When Mr. Baylor said "Dress out," he meant DRESS OUT!

Denim was the favorite fabric.

Oversized sweaters and bright prints were popular.

Swatch watches and woven bracelets came in a rainbow of colors.

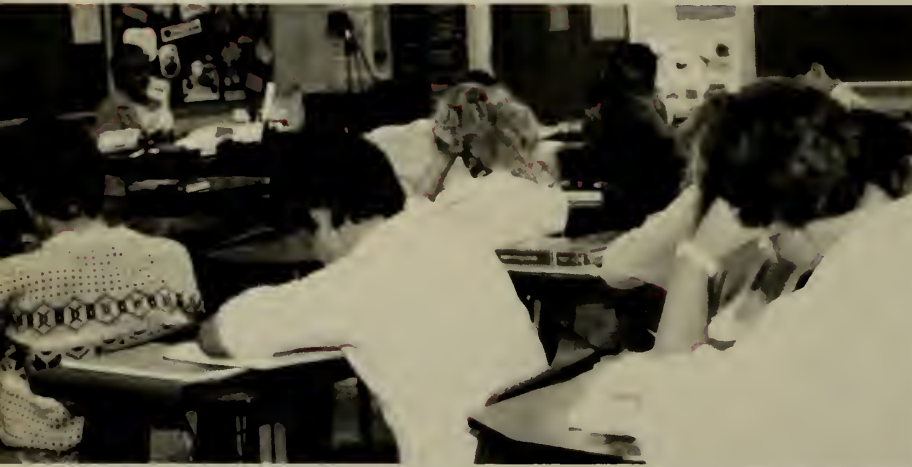

Layered tee-top sweaters were the LOOK.

GETTING CLASSES UNDERWAY

*Marc,
It has been nice
having you in class this year. I hope you have a great summer + good luck next year. Take care. Your friend,
Mrs. Nesmer*

Industrial Arts meant hands-on activities.

The Writing Process was a major objective in English classes.

Being physically fit was more than just exercise.

Ms. Peters demonstrated.

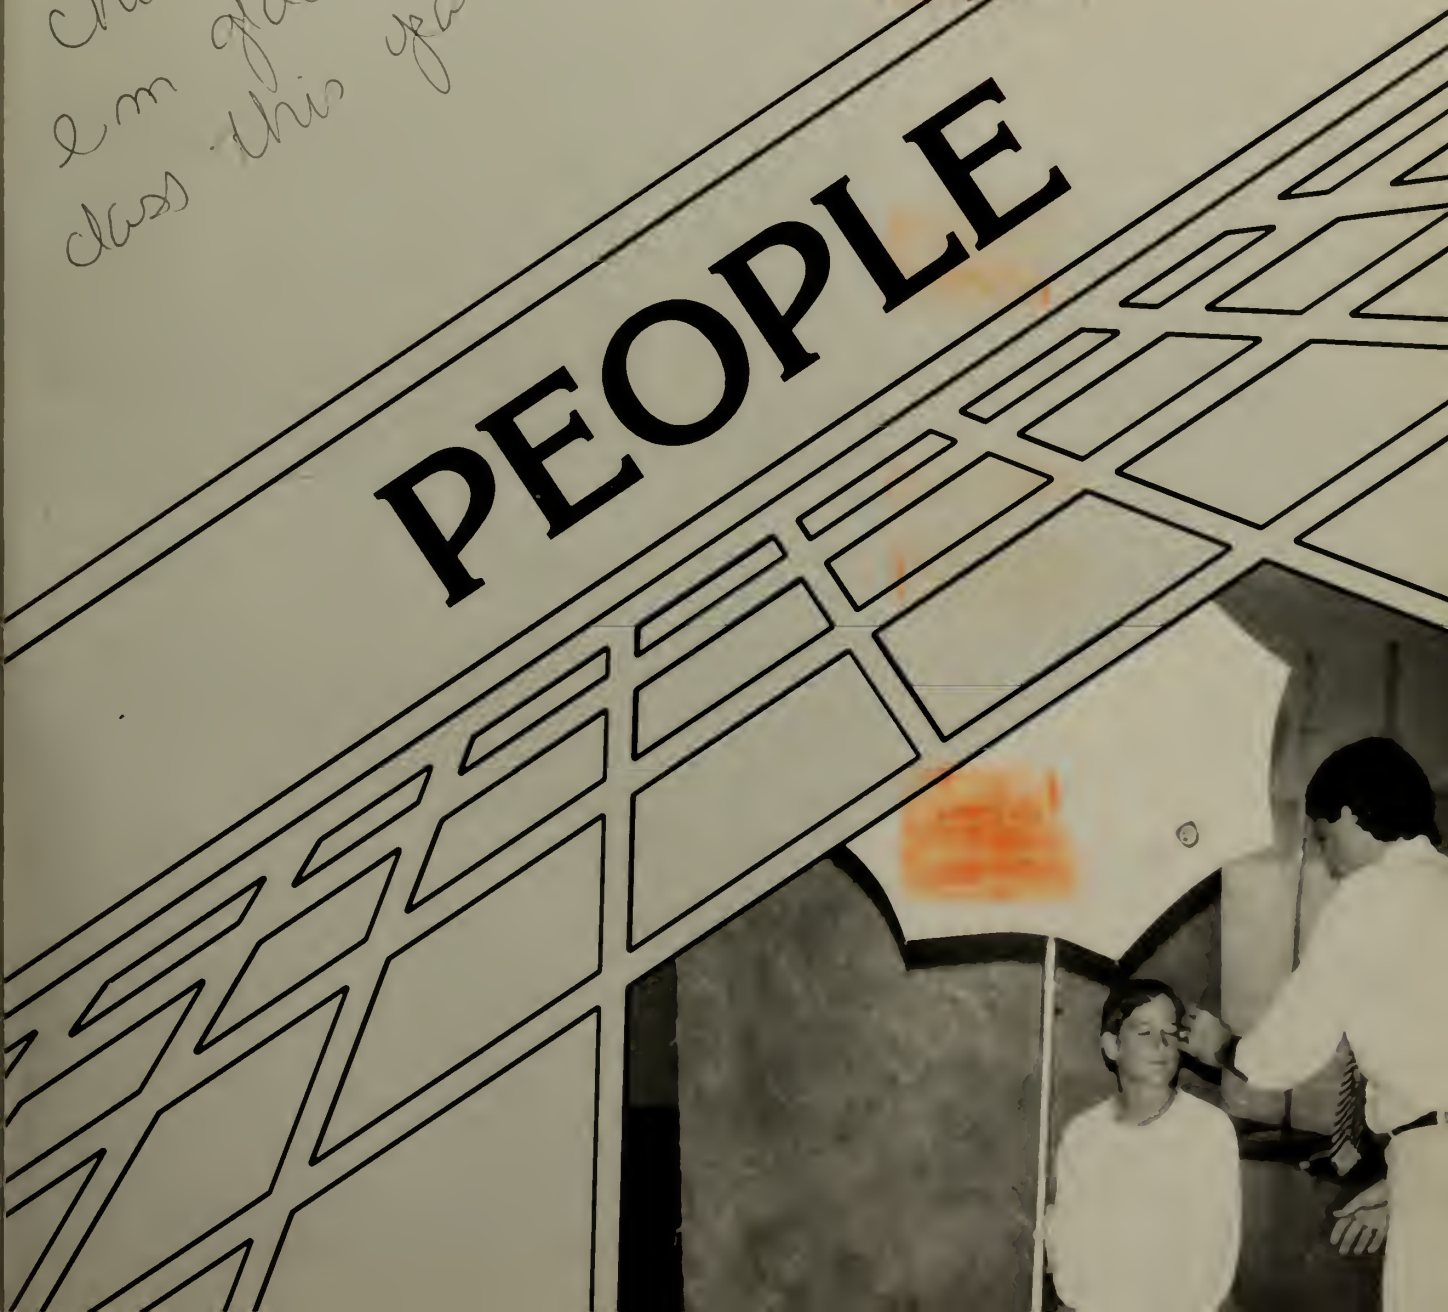

Class participation included oral presentations.

Mark,
It's been nice knowing you for the past 3 years right. I'm chirps it was so fun last year
I'm glad you were in my Science class this year. Well Good Luck next year

One of the projects sponsored by the NJHS was the selection of a student for "Panther of the Month."

STUDENT LIFE

The Student-Faculty volleyball game was an exciting event.

Getting from class to class through the crowded halls was a daily challenge.

Mrs. Pearce's popcorn was first class!

Getting into one's locker took cooperation . . . and patience.

STUDENT

We really did work in the library . . . or at least looked that way.

And it was three cheers for Beowulf and meade . . . or was it meade and Beowulf?

Our cafeteria never ran out of good things to eat, not even during 6th bell lunch.

Mr. Taylor, Mrs. Gordon, and Mrs. Goldstein paused to develop strategies before going to cafeteria duty.

LIFE

Going the wrong way on a one way hall could be hazardous to one's health.

Casey "Ben Franklin" Perry was a part of a panel discussion during English class.

Report cards were distributed on the stage during the lunch bells.

STUDENT

Jeff Pool and Kelly Cramer sold subscriptions for the Publication Package at the fall PTA Open House.

All of this and we still had to get between classes in five minutes.

The band sponsored a fund raising Rock-a-thon.

Using a band saw required goggles and extra special care!

Mrs. Griffin joined in the dress up fun on Halloween.

LIFE

Teen living classes sampled some of their projects.

The telephone was a popular attraction during the lunch bell.

Seventh grade students heard an explanation about early fire arms.

The library was a favorite meeting place during lunch time.

SPORTS

LATER

Miss Emilie M. Tilley, Principa

This year our yearbook is dedicated to a very special person, Miss Emilie Tilley. Our principal is new to our school but not to the field of education. She has already served Princess Anne Junior High School with much loyalty and respect. It is the personal note on the report cards congratulating us on the good achievement and encouraging us when the grades are less than they should be, the pat on the back for a job well done, and the quietly spoken "hi" when we pass in the hall that make her so special.

Before coming to us, Miss Tilley taught high school physical education where she coached an outstanding field hockey team. She has also served as an assistant principal at Cox High School and as a Staff Assistant at the Administration Office.

It is with our gratitude that this yearbook is dedicated to you. You put pride in the PAJHS name. Thank you for your caring, your kind words, and most especially for giving us A NEW BEGINNING.

Hey, awwts! What's up?
man most of my friends are leaving me. I'm sad
